

Copper Tube Market Information - March 15, 2011

HD Supply

Plumbing Tube Comments:

Copper prices bounced from near three-month lows to end flat on Monday but sentiment remained fragile amid concerns over the global economic impact from Japan's devastating earthquake and tsunami. Despite copper's ability to stabilize from the recent wave of risk reduction, investors continued to side with caution, fearing the crisis in Japan, the world's third largest economy, could derail the global economic recovery.

Due to the drop in price recently, a new list price sheet will most likely go into the market in the next day or so. Currently, all copper tube orders will be priced from Cerro Flow Products list price sheet dated February 2, 2011.

